

J3 Resources Celebrates a Successful EIA "Texas Talk" Seminar September 28, 2012 Houston, TX

J3 Resources, Inc. welcomed the opportunity to host the first Texas EIA Technical Seminar in Houston, Texas. Although the planning and execution was extremely time consuming, the success of the day made the time and effort well worth it.

Texas EIA promotes technical seminars in an effort to provide attendees, ranging from students to seasoned professionals with a venue for networking with colleagues, vendors and government officials, updating their knowledge, enhancing their skills and learning about the latest services, products and technologies in our industry. On Friday, September 28, 2012, 75+ participants assembled at the Hilton Houston Hobby Hilton and did just that!

Thanks to Lee Poye's extensive industry involvement, he was able to line up an impressive list of notable speakers. A special thank you to Ronald F. Dodson, PhD, FCCP, FAHA, Tom Laubenthal, Technical Chief of The Environmental Institute, Marietta GA, Andrew Oberta, MPH, CIH and Chuck Dingman, CIH, CSP who offered exceptional presentations ranging from asbestos research to industrial hygiene.

J3, on behalf of TX EIA, is grateful for the support of outstanding sponsors like Legends Environmental Insurance Services, J3 Resources, Environmental Monitoring Systems, EMSL Analytical, Southern Global, ARC Abatement, BKW Environmental Services, Professional Environmental Training, National EIA, HSE Solutions, Total Safety and Envirovore. Their support provided much needed funds to offset conference costs and many contributed outstanding door prizes such as restaurant gift cards, iPod Touch, moisture meters, and even Blue Man Group Concert tickets!

Thanks to all participants for an exceptional day of networking and knowledge for our industry!
